

Abstract:

The invention relates to aqueous defoamer emulsions comprising at least one active defoaming substance and, if desired, customary auxiliaries and additives, which are characterized in that for the purpose of improving their defoaming action they comprise organopolysiloxane compounds having a viscosity of $\geq 1 \cdot 10^6$ mPas in the form of an aqueous emulsion.